■ mesohyal™ captivates international markets following its success in Europe

After arousing major interest among professionals attending the 19th Mediterranean Seminar on Therapeutic Challenges held on 13

The mesohyal™ line currently proposes two solutions: mesohyal™ HYALURONIC and mesohyal™ NCTC 109. The former is a clear, jellified solution of nonreticulated hyaluronic acid, indicated for the treatment of fine wrinkles and moisturising of the face, neckline and back of the hands. The latter is a revitalising solution containing vitamins, amino acids, mineral salts, co-enzymes and a hyaluronic acid base, promoting cell repair events and acting as a skin tissue rejuvenating and toning agent.

In the future, the line will be completed with new antiaging facial mesotherapy benchmarks.

mesoestetic® is currently the only Spanish pharmaceutical laboratory authorised in the EC to manufacture health products for intradermal application.
